

Our Daily Bread

Sliced Thin by The Editor

Alex. H. Washburn

Are Sheep Adaptable to the South's Ex-Cotton Lands?

In this day of contracting cotton acreage allotments the South is looking for new means of earning a livelihood on the farm — a subject that commands the attention not only of the farmers themselves but also the towns and cities whose very existence depends on keeping farmlands profitably employed.

Much of the old cotton-growing talent of our southwest Arkansas district has already turned to beef and dairy cattle, a trend that was well developed even before government restrictions were put upon cotton.

But I wonder if there isn't a future in raising sheep here, too? The idea comes from an astonishing report on the world wool markets that was published in yesterday's Wall Street Journal. The world is using twice as much wool as it has produced — and the big carryover, which was left at the end of World War II is nearly exhausted.

Before the war American mills used two pounds of native wool for every pound of imported fleece — but today the ratio is reversed, the mills importing two pounds for every one of native staple. And the Australians are getting rich.

The Wall Street Journal reports that a pound of Australian wool four months ago brought $1.40 delivered in Boston, today the price is $1.85 and it will go to $2, perhaps $2.25, in the opinion of professional traders.

What's happened to American wool? Well, the financial paper reports that in 1942 we had 56 million sheep, but today we have 32 million. Why? Says the Wall Street Journal:

"The high-paying jobs and bright lights of the cities have kept the nation's supply of sheep range workers mighty meager in recent years. So the national sheep flock has taken the most drastic slashing on record."

Sheep have never been a major item on farms around here, but until someone corrects me I don't know that there is anything in our Southern weather to make sheep-growing inadvisable. It's no hotter here than it is around San Angelo, capital of the Texas sheep industry. And, for that matter, the Australians raise sheep in a dry desert — which most of our country is.

Biggest problem in sheep-raising is fencing and protection of the herd against wolves and strange dogs. But it is an industry well adapted to the small farm, especially as a side-line, and this latest news from the financial markets tells us wool is going to be high for years to come.

There are substitutes for cotton, but not for wool.

Asks Renewal of Probe in Spy Activities

Washington, Jan. 27 —(P)—Producing a fresh sheaf of documents from Whitaker Chambers, Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) today demanded a new house investigation into wartime Communist spy activities.

Nixon quoted Chambers as admitted courier for a Soviet espionage ring in the war years — and saying he got the eight new documents from the late Harry Dexter White, former assistant secretary of the treasury.

White died in 1948, a short time after denying to the house un-American activities committee that he had ever passed on confidential data to the Communists.

The photographs, copies which Nixon showed the house yesterday deal with such things as U. S. policy toward Japan and the assignment of an American navy captain to England in 1938 as a "secret liaison."

Nixon said that on the basis of these papers he will insist that the house committee, of which he is a member, resume the spy inquiry suspended during the two-year purge of documents to Chambers, former state department official.

Hiss was convicted last Saturday and was sentenced to five years imprisonment. He had denied to a grand jury that he gave secret government documents to Chambers.

Nixon told newsmen there may have been justification for not pursuing the committee inquiry while the Hiss case was in the courts, but added that this justification on longer exists.

In a one-hour speech in the house yesterday, Nixon denounced the administration's attitude in the case and said the justice department once had considered prosecuting Chambers instead of Hiss.

Had that course been followed, he said, the effect would have been to ruin any case against Hiss and others because their principal accuser would have been "an indicted perjurer."

Nixon also claimed that President Truman had access to a secret memorandum dated Nov. 25, 1945, saying the Soviets had an agent in this country "who was an assistant to Edward R. Steinfeld, then assistant secretary of state."

The lawmaker made clear he believed the reference was to Hiss, who resigned from government service in 1947. Nixon said Hiss was Steinfeld's assistant at the Yalta conference.

In medieval times, warring armies agreed not to campaign against each other during winter. Labrador is the most easterly part of the American continent.

WEATHER FORECAST

Arkansas: Cloudy to partly cloudy and colder this afternoon and tonight.

8 Nations Sign to Get U. S. Aid for Arms

Washington, Jan. 27 —(P)—Eight Western European countries sign on the dotted line today for $1,000,000,000 in American arms aid.

About three months behind schedule, ambassadors from Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway and Denmark were to put their signatures to separate arms agreements in ceremonies (2:30 p. m. EST) at the state department.

These documents give in detail the conditions under which the United States will ship guns, tanks, planes, ships, raw materials and machinery to its Atlantic pact allies to bolster their defenses against possible Russian attack.

President Truman's formal approval of a master defense plan for the North Atlantic area was expected a few hours later. This plan was worked out secretly last month by military chiefs of the 12 Atlantic pact countries.

Congress specified last October when it approved plans to rearm Western Europe, that the administration must approve the strategy outline before the full $1,000,000,000 in arms could be made available.

Britain, whose objections to American terms delayed the negotiations, was listed as first to sign with Ambassador Oliver Franks initiating the agreement in the morning before leaving for consultations in London.

Despite the slow start, American officials are confident that American military equipment will begin to move overseas about Feb. 15. The initial supplies, they estimate, will be on the way to East coast ports within a week.

France is to get the biggest chunk of American military help because in any Russian attack on Western Europe its army would be expected to bear the brunt of the initial defense.

While terms of the agreements were being secret before the signing, officials said in advance that these are the main provisions:

1. Each country pledges to use American military help only for the purpose specified to strengthen the total defense of the North Atlantic area.

2. All promise to bolster their own defenses and to aid other allies with any weapons and supplies deemed necessary. This is known as self-help and mutual aid provision.

3. No country will transfer any American equipment without prior consent of the United States.

4. Strict security measures will be put into effect to make sure arms and secret information remain only in authorized hands.

A large crowd last night attended the Hope High school band concert honoring the Friday Music Club. Band letters were awarded to 22 members based on work since January 1949. Thomas Cannon, director announced.

They are: Jack White, Joan Arnold, Diane Bryan, Polly Jo Campbell, Bernard Dunn, Bonnie Shiley, Billy Boat, James Robert Fuller, Jerry Bowden, Joyce Greenlee, Herbert Dodson, J. G. Darwin, Loretta Ward, Gladys Womack, Charles Cross, John Gibson, Dixie Smith, William Haworth, Barbara Bright, Jacqueline Holt.

Nixon said that on the basis of these papers he will insist that the house committee, of which he is a member, resume the spy inquiry suspended during the two-year purge of documents to Chambers, former state department official.

Hiss was convicted last Saturday and was sentenced to five years imprisonment. He had denied to a grand jury that he gave secret government documents to Chambers.

Nixon told newsmen there may have been justification for not pursuing the committee inquiry while the Hiss case was in the courts, but added that this justification on longer exists.

In a one-hour speech in the house yesterday, Nixon denounced the administration's attitude in the case and said the justice department once had considered prosecuting Chambers instead of Hiss.

Had that course been followed, he said, the effect would have been to ruin any case against Hiss and others because their principal accuser would have been "an indicted perjurer."

Nixon also claimed that President Truman had access to a secret memorandum dated Nov. 25, 1945, saying the Soviets had an agent in this country "who was an assistant to Edward R. Steinfeld, then assistant secretary of state."

The lawmaker made clear he believed the reference was to Hiss, who resigned from government service in 1947. Nixon said Hiss was Steinfeld's assistant at the Yalta conference.

In medieval times, warring armies agreed not to campaign against each other during winter. Labrador is the most easterly part of the American continent.

Indiana was discovered by La Salle in 1671.

Lizards are the most abundant of living reptiles.

HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH SHIPMENTS TO RUSSIA — Women spectators line up outside the House Un-American Activities Committee hearing room in Washington for a glimpse of Henry A. Wallace former Vice President, as he arrived to testify. Wallace told the committee that he had nothing to do with wartime atomic shipments to Russia and didn't even know they were made. (NEA Telephoto.)

Truman's Tax Boost, Slash Plan Supported

By FRANCIS M. LeMAY

Washington, Jan. 27 —(P)—Key House Democrats were reported standing firm today behind President Truman's insistence that any cuts in excise taxes should be balanced by tax boosts elsewhere.

Democratic members of the tax-drafting house ways and means committee were said to have agreed on that position, in order to prevent the government from losing revenue through cuts in levies on such things as transportation and amusement tickets, luggage and jewelry.

Republicans still kept up pressure for a simple excise repeal bill — without the balancing features asked by Mr. Truman. One GOP effort to push through such a measure failed yesterday.

That effort came as the house took up a bill — which it later passed — levying a $90,000,000 income tax on part of the $4,500,000,000 investment earnings of life insurance companies which were unfixed in 1947, 1948 and 1949.

Passage of that measure marked the first congressional action on a part of Mr. Truman's new tax program. He told congress Monday a tax law quick that lets insurance company earnings go untaxed should be removed.

When the bill was brought up, House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts offered an amendment proposing a $70,000,000 excise reduction. It would have halved the 20 per cent retail levies on furs, jewelry, luggage and toilet articles and reduced many others.

Martin told the house that while congress delays action "there is what might be called a buyers' strike in the country, hurting business and causing unemployment."

He failed to get a vote. Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.), presiding at the time, held that house rules bar an excise amendment to a bill dealing only with the corporation income tax section of the internal revenue code.

That was the end of the excise scrap for the day. No one would predict, however, what might happen when the house and senate finally act on a tax measure.

Mr. Truman, in Monday's tax message, asked for excise reductions but gave notice he would veto any bill that did not pick up the lost revenue. He proposed plugging the tax loopholes and adding $1,000,000,000 in revenue by raising taxes on corporations, in inheritances and big gifts.

Floods, Rain, Ice Cover Arkansas

Little Rock, Jan. 27 —(P)—And now it's floods and ice again in the forefront of Arkansas rapidly changing weather situation.

The Red Cross reported 11,000 additional acres flooded by the St. Francis river near the Madison community four miles northeast of Fort City. Members of some of the families were expected to be added to the Red Cross count of 13,283 persons previously made homeless by Arkansas floods this month.

The coast guard was making evacuations in the Madison area. A cold wave coming in from the north pushed its way on across the state. Whereas just two days ago Arkansas was having a hot wave with temperatures up to 83 degrees, sub-freezing mercury readings were common this morning.

Rain accompanied the cold front. It fell as sleet or froze on trees, communication and power lines and the ground in some sections. Communications and power were disrupted briefly at Batesville yesterday.

One hard-to-fit customer in the Philippines, fearful the firm wouldn't be in business long, ordered 50 pairs of shoes at one clip. Another wired to have his pair sent special delivery, "as I can't get married until they get here."

The least used letter in the English alphabet is the letter "Z."

ROMANCE IN THE NEWS — At left is Princess Kazuko Take, 20, daughter of Japanese Emperor Hirohito, who is engaged to Toshimichi Takasakura, 26, a 26-year-old government clerk. At right is Rucio Snyder, only child of Secretary of the U. S. Treasury John W. Snyder who was married to Major John Ernest Horton, a White House aide. (NEA Telephotos)

Making Special Shoes for Big Feet Has Turned Into a Fairly Large Business

By HAL BOYLE

New York —(P)—It is no joke having feet big enough to stamp out forest fires.

And in pre-war days men with large kickers had real trouble finding shoes to fit them.

They got a little weary of being told "why don't you wear suitcases?" And they also got tired of paying $40 to $75 for custom built shoes — as few stores stocked anything beyond size 11 or 12.

Bernie Lazarus became aware of this problem while selling shoes to the army during the war. He discovered about 3 per cent of the troops had extra size feet.

"Why shouldn't someone cater to these forgotten men when peace comes?" he asked a supply major.

"It's a terrific idea," said the major.

So Bernie and two friends launched the king-size shoe company in Brockton, Mass. They guaranteed to fit any gent with a flapper between 10 and 16.

The firm had 1,000 customers at the end of the year. By the close of 1949 it had 25,000 customers and better than a $250,000 turnover.

Among the customers are a museum curator, a Broadway producer, Hollywood stars, and at least one governor.

"The governor is big Jim Folsom of Alabama," said Lazarus. "But I can't tell you the names of the Hollywood actors. They want to keep it a secret."

But our customers complained they are extremely sensitive about their tender white wickers, "my tennis," or "my little tootsies."

Lazarus — he's a size 11 1/2 himself — has found even in a specialty business it is commercially impracticable to stock shoes larger than size 16. But as a matter of sentiment will try to shoe men with even "emperor-size" feet.

The only man I wasn't able to do anything for was a famous wrestler," Bernie smiled. "He had a foot as wide as a table."

Despite Demands of Allies Russia Continues to Block Traffic From West Germany

Youth Held for Murder of Mother

Chicago, Jan. 27 —(P)— State's attorney's office is preparing to seek a murder indictment today against a high school boy in connection with the slaying of his mother.

Witnesses told a coroner's jury yesterday that the youth, Philip Carmack, Jr., 15, related he accidentally shot his mother and then fired two more shots into her head because he "didn't want his mother to suffer any pain."

The jury recommended Carmack be held on a charge of murdering Mrs. Marie Carmack, 40, mother of five children. Assistant State's Attorney William Brumlik said the state had not yet decided about the death penalty.

Brumlik said Carmack gave three versions of the slaying. First, Brumlik said, the boy told police he had found his mother, wounded and lying on the floor and he did not know who had shot her.

Later Brumlik said, he related he accidentally shot her when his .22 caliber rifle snagged on a drape in their home in suburban Worth. After an autopsy located three bullets in his mother's body, Brumlik said, the boy again changed his story.

He was quoted as saying that after he shot her accidentally he fired two more shots into her head because he wanted to be sure she was dead, and he "didn't want her to suffer any pain."

Philip did not testify at the inquest. His father, Philip Sr., 42, a steel worker testified his son had been a "good boy" and had never given his parents any particular trouble.

Police Chase Accident Is Fatal to Two

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 27 —(P)—

Two men burned to death and a third was burned critically when automobile crashed into a gasoline tank truck during a five-minute police chase early today.

The dead were identified tentatively by police as Fred Luongo of Cambridge and Mark Foster of Arlington.

The third man, reported in a dying condition at Cambridge city hospital, was identified as Henry Tivnan, 22, of Cambridge.

Police said Luongo and Foster were trapped in the passenger car when it burst into flame after hitting the tank truck.

Tivnan was thrown out of the machine — a human torch. A pedestrian rolled him along a sidewalk to the extinguish the flames.

Two alarms were sounded when the tank truck, carrying 1,500 gallons of gasoline, also burst into flames, threatening nearby property.

Police said they took up pursuit of the car in the belief it was stolen.

They reported it was traveling 60 miles an hour when it hit the tank truck at a street intersection.

The truck driver jumped from the vehicle uninjured.

Burglars Enter Store at McCaskill

Burglars broke into Chester McCaskill's store at McCaskill last night, looted the cash drawer of about $25, took some ladies' hose and several packages of cigarettes, officers reported here today.

It was the third in a series of robberies in that section within the past month. Recently the Bank of Elevator was entered, the Elevators Drug Company and a store at Wallaceburg robbed, and an attempted robbery has been reported.

Two nights ago Payne's Store at Putnam was entered and robbed of cigarettes, a German pistol and an adding machine. Last week the Middlebrooks Grocery Store was cracked and about $1000 in money and articles were taken.

Only last night a home was entered and some clothing stolen.

Local and state police are investigating.

The swordfish has no teeth.

Despite Demands of Allies Russia Continues to Block Traffic From West Germany

Berlin Jan. 27 —(P)— Gloomy Allied officials said today they saw little chance of an early end to the Soviet blockade of West Germany.

Some cargoes were stalled as much as 40 hours by the Russian slowdown, enforced equally against trucks attempting to enter or to leave the east zone.

West Berlin's basic supplies — food and fuel — were reported ample despite strangulation of the city's road communications.

But Charles A. Dix, American transport chief in Berlin, said the creeping blockade "was a hard blow West Berlin industries which have been trying to rebuild their inter-zonal trade."

The city's economic position is desperate. Every fourth West Berlin worker is jobless. Unemployment is dependent on donations from the West German republic.

Grim rumors circulate that German communists may attempt a putsch this spring in West Berlin if economic hopelessness still grips a large share of the population.

Dix said the crippling of the highway route apparently would benefit the Soviet-controlled East Zone railway by increasing freight revenues. The Russians have left railway schedules unaltered except for the six-hour delay of a U. S. military train last Sunday night.

The Russians objected to the presence on the train of three non-American passengers.

Dix disclosed that a freight car loaded with Berlin scrap metal for Western Germany, missing for nearly a week, had been located in Russian custody at Potsdam. It had been impounded because the date of the shipment allegedly was missing from the waybill.

Dix said negotiations were underway to free the lead shipment. He added there were no other missing freight cars now.

At Hiltrich the Russians were reported letting through only two or at the most three trucks per hour in each direction. This is about one-tenth the normal traffic.

Bandits Steal $100,000 in Jewels, Furs

New York, Jan. 27 —(P)— Half-pint showman Billy Rose didn't know that bandits stole $100,000 in jewels and furs from his home.

But he was just as glad that his wife, former Olympic swimming star Eleanor Holm, was out on the town with him, wearing $250,000 worth of diamonds during the robbery.

"I'm sure happy my baby wore her war paint," Rose said. "But I don't care about the jewels as long as no one was hurt."

Two alarms were sounded when the tank truck, carrying 1,500 gallons of gasoline, also burst into flames, threatening nearby property.

Police said they took up pursuit of the car in the belief it was stolen.

They reported it was traveling 60 miles an hour when it hit the tank truck at a street intersection.

The truck driver jumped from the vehicle uninjured.

Burglars broke into Chester McCaskill's store at McCaskill last night, looted the cash drawer of about $25, took some ladies' hose and several packages of cigarettes, officers reported here today.

It was the third in a series of robberies in that section within the past month. Recently the Bank of Elevator was entered, the Elevators Drug Company and a store at Wallaceburg robbed, and an attempted robbery has been reported.

Two nights ago Payne's Store at Putnam was entered and robbed of cigarettes, a German pistol and an adding machine. Last week the Middlebrooks Grocery Store was cracked and about $1000 in money and articles were taken.

Only last night a home was entered and some clothing stolen.

Local and state police are investigating.

The swordfish has no teeth.

Lewis, Operators to Talk Over Coal Situation

Washington, Jan. 27 —(P)— Today and western soft coal operators agreed to talk with Lewis about a mining contract next Wednesday, but suggested p. m. as the hour.

Lewis had proposed renewal contract negotiations next Wednesday, but suggested p. m. as the hour.

Denham contends that Lewis is not being bargaining in good faith and has asked the court to end to production-stopping tactics on grounds they are "unlawful labor practices."

Frank Amos, chairman of North-West negotiating committee, wired Lewis of his acceptance of the proposal for a new contract without qualifications, except change the hour of the production session.

At the Capitol, meantime, senate labor committee, which held a resolution by eight Republican senators, asking a "voluntary" agreement to restore full coal production.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 27 —(P)— Soft coal industry today announced a new contract to negotiate a new contract.

The operators said the offer made because "employees have been deprived of badly needed earnings" and "an acute shortage of coal" exists.

The offer was made in a last sent Lewis by the operators, who said they were "not prepared to budge" on a bituminous coal wage contract.

The industry said it sought contract based on the same demands it listed in previous less contract negotiations.

That the contract would be a "voluntary" agreement to restore full coal production.

1. That no wage increase be sought.

2. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

3. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

4. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

5. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

6. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

7. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

8. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

9. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

10. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

11. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

12. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

13. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

14. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

15. That the contract contain no provision for a strike.

Important Change on Wage, Hour Law

NORMAN WALKER
(James Walker)

Jan. 27 —(P)—The wage-hour law made a great change in coverage of workers now covered? Who are still exempt? General workers are covered if they are engaged in commerce between states or with foreign countries, or in producing goods for commerce.

Such workers are covered, but not if they are engaged in work for a state or local government, or in the service of a domestic servant, or in the service of a fisherman.

The government exemption applies to all public workers, city, state and federal. Agricultural exemption applies to those engaged in farming, stock raising, and raising livestock. Cultural processing is generally exempt if done within the "area of production."

Transportation workers, formerly exempt, are under the minimum wage law, but not the overtime law. The same exemption is continued for administrative or professional workers and outside salesmen. But the wage-hour law has just changed his exemption.

Now he is exempt as an executive, administrative, or professional worker, if he gets less than $200 a week, and if his primary duty is administrative or professional. It was $200 a week, as long as their primary duty was administrative or professional.

Various retail and service establishments are exempt from the law, but the rule has been sharply changed. Now a retailer won't be under the law just because he sells things within a state, but he must carry over state lines.

Some wage-hour administration is permitted to set special minimum rates, below the 75-cent an hour level for learners in an apprenticeship and for messengers, inspectors and handicapped workers. Newsprinters, daily or weekly, are exempt if circulation is less than 4,000. Formerly only weekly papers with less than 3,000 circulation were exempt.

Also exempt are taxicabs, hack cabs, and taxicabs serving fewer than 750 cabs. Exemptions for railroads, steamships, pipelines, and local transportation companies are continued under the new law.

The new law sets in certain regions the use of child labor. Exemptions here, too, are continued. What are the new regulations? For the first time, a ban on employing children under 16 in nearly all industries, except under 18 in hazardous occupations.

Formerly, the only ban on child labor was a penalty for moving children in interstate commerce within 30 days after they were employed by child labor.

The wage-hour law in administration some lumber companies, for instance, could employ minors cutting logs in the woods and then starting an interstate shipment. There was no penalty.

Now an employer can be fined $100 and sent to jail for six months for employing minors. Exemptions to the child employment ban are limited to boys making deliveries to consumer minors employed in agriculture outside school hours; minors in radio, television, motion pictures and the theater and those employed by their own parents or guardians, except in hazardous occupations.

The exemption for minors working in agriculture outside school hours has been changed somewhat. Under the old law, working a school year was a legal excuse. Now as long as their school is open, these minors must attend classes.

Bergman's Romance Now in Mexico
Hollywood, Jan. 27 —(P)—The picture in freedom's great international romance between Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini, "Stromboli," is today in Mexico.

The picture, which stars the Swedish actress plan to give a performance against Dr. Peter Lindstrom, leaving her free—permanently within a week or 10 days—to marry the Italian director with whom she fell in love on Stromboli.

After Hollywood attorney, Greb, gave the go-ahead to El Lindstrom's lawyers after negotiations with Dr. Lindstrom's attorney, Lawrence Brinn, in New York. The principals, Dr. Lindstrom and Ingrid Bergman, maintained silence.

The details of the divorce were the hands of Attorney William Brinn, who handled the case last year. The divorce was granted in the state of California, which provides a quick divorce—a week to 10 days—when both parties consent. One of the parties must reside in the state or file a divorce petition by the power of attorney to a lawyer.

New Chapter in Auto Volume

T. H. Keating, general manager, and W. E. Fish, general sales manager, inspect a special display of the 23,000,000th vehicle manufactured by the Chevrolet Motor Division. The milestone model was produced in record time. It came off the assembly line only 32 weeks after the 22,000,000th unit.

MAY DO BUSINESS YET—Moving into the international limelight again is Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco, center, above, following Secretary of State Acheson's statement that the U.S. would support a resolution in the UN General Assembly to cancel the UN ban on member nations having diplomatic relations with Spain. The newest picture of the Spanish dictator was taken at a recent gathering of high government officials in Madrid.

TWO MOOS LOOK ALIKE—Candy and Sandy, purebred Ayrshire identical twins at America, N. Y., are exceptions to the rule that twin dairy cattle do not turn out well. They look alike, walk alike and moo alike. Now nine months old, the calves show signs of becoming top milk-producers. The unusual twins belong to Mrs. Dorothy Long.

"WHAT'S NEW, OL' SOCK?"—This novel footwear, which may or may not indicate a trend, turned up at a teen-agers' "sock hop" at Arlington Heights, Ill. The socks were rigged up with ear muffs with funny faces by Emmet McDougall and Patty Boyle.

Preview of Spring Leaves the South

By The Associated Press

The late January preview of spring in most of the eastern and southern states appeared nearing an end today.

A blanket of cold air from the chilled Midwest spread across the Ohio river valley and pushed eastward toward the Atlantic Seaboard. Some of the cold air was expected to dip into the Gulf Coast and send temperatures from their lofty summer readings back to near seasonal levels.

The cold weather still gripped wide areas in the western half of the country. Temperatures moderated over the plains and some of the north central states but they remained far below zero in many areas. Montana, one of the coldest spots in the current icy weather, was getting out of the deep-freeze and an end of the sub-zero blasts was in sight.

But the mercury was at a biting 30 below zero in North Dakota and between 20 and 30 below over that state and Minnesota during the night. In the Dakotas and Minnesota only one weather bureau station, Rapid City, S. D., with 9 above reported a reading above zero. The low at Minneapolis was -21.

The cold air already had dipped into Arkansas and other parts of the South. Freezing rain fell over northern Arkansas and glared highways. There also was some freezing rain on the northern fringes of a narrow belt of precipitation from New York and Pennsylvania southwestward across Kentucky to the coastal region of Texas.

Below freezing again was forecast for southern California's citrus areas but warmer weather was in prospect later today. But mild weather east of the Appalachian mountains again yesterday continued to amaze the people and even fooled the animals. Record readings for the day and for the winter season were set in many cities.

In a Philadelphia zoo, ground-hogs, turtles and snakes—not calendar readers—came out of hibernation. Girls took sunbaths on rooftops. Bees buzzed around a honeysuckle bush in full bloom in Towson, Md. Japanese beetles, a mid-summer pest, appeared near Frederick, Md.

The New Jersey state health department warned by readings in the 70's, issued a list of hints on "how to avoid heat prostration." The weather bureau's bulletin indicated the release was premature with a forecast of temperatures in the mid 40's today.

All-time winter heat records were set in Boston yesterday when the mercury climbed to 72. But it was expected to be down in the 30's in the New England region today. Some rain in the coastal areas was forecast.

In Baltimore the top mark was 79 and Philadelphia reported an all-time January high of 73.2. Washington basked in 79-degree heat and Atlanta's 73 was five degrees above the previous record for Jan. 26.

But indications were that the high readings will tumble. In Chicago, where a record high of 87 was set Wednesday, the mercury had dropped nearly 60 degrees in 40 hours and was heading for the zero mark.

Ex-Bandits Rule Chinese Province

TOKYO, Jan. 27 —(P)—Tough former Chinese bandits who say they are communists rule Tsingtao, so rigidly that even the old-line Reds have trouble with them.

They were bandits for years. They roamed the rich countryside in Shantung province, of which Tsingtao is a part.

When the Chinese Nationalists fled from that North China port two months before they were expected to leave the former bandits moved in. They grabbed power and so far have hung onto it.

I saw them at the former U. S. naval base while I was in Tsingtao with the Flying Arrow which left there this week. I was the only correspondent aboard that American freighter, which was shelled by the Nationalists and put in to Tsingtao to unload cargo destined for Shanghai.

The former bandits say they are communists and follow the party line. But they also like that fat jobs they inherited and party regular have found it difficult to remove them.

Chinese communists leaders from outside arrived after the former bandits took over. The outsiders have run into trouble giving orders to these provincial rulers.

FROM THE FARM TO THE MUSEUM?—Rep. Reid Murray (R., Wisc.), shares his grief with a cow named Rosie, over congressional repeal of oleomargarine taxes. The dairy state congressman claims the new tax relief, plus large government subsidies on oleo ingredients, will possibly destroy the cow as well as the dairy business.

France Urged to Modify Saar Proposal

Washington, Jan. 27 —(P)—The United States was reported today to be urging France to modify its proposal for leasing the Saar coal mines in order to head off the danger of a political crisis in Western Europe.

The main American suggestion is said to be that if the French government insists on going ahead, it should make the contract subject to future German peace treaty provisions governing the final disposition of the Saar land.

The issue has grown to include not only French and German political questions over the eventual fate of that Franco-German border area, but also the question of the Saar's status as a free zone.

American officials said today that unless the Bonn and Paris governments can resolve the problem in friendly fashion all the plans for Western European unity will be gravely endangered.

The three-power agreement under which France detached the Saar from Germany provided that the eventual status of the area would be fixed by the German peace treaty—if and when there is one.

Seizing on the lease controversy some German political spokesmen have recently sought to make the Saar a rallying point for German nationalism by insisting that it must be returned to Germany.

As long as the question of its final disposition is open there will obviously be opportunity for such political pressures. In this instance, however, the West German government itself, possible with the urging of the occupation powers, took the public position early this week that the major concern of Germany must be cooperation with the Western powers in the interest of West European unity.

India's Arrival at Full Statehood Is Symbolic of Rapidly Changing Times

By DeWitt MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

India's arrival at full statehood—complete in all respects as a sovereign republic which is answerable to no foreign power—is symbolic of our rapidly changing times.

This transformation, involving more than three hundred million independent of the West German government.

The United States apparently has no particular objection to the idea of the proposed French lease. Some officials say privately that this might not be the best time to press the matter. But if the French intend to go through with their negotiations with the Saar government, the United States would like to see the lease made in such a way as to minimize rather than build up basic differences between France and Germany.

The three-power agreement under which France detached the Saar from Germany provided that the eventual status of the area would be fixed by the German peace treaty—if and when there is one.

Seizing on the lease controversy some German political spokesmen have recently sought to make the Saar a rallying point for German nationalism by insisting that it must be returned to Germany.

As long as the question of its final disposition is open there will obviously be opportunity for such political pressures. In this instance, however, the West German government itself, possible with the urging of the occupation powers, took the public position early this week that the major concern of Germany must be cooperation with the Western powers in the interest of West European unity.

Communist Shore Gone Fire on British Freighter

Taipei, Formosa, Jan. 27 —(P)—Officers of the British freighter Wingsang reported today Communist shore batteries fired on the vessel from the mainland Wednesday afternoon.

The ship was attacked at a point about 60 miles northeast of Red held Amoy as it was heading for Keelung, the port of Chinese Nationalist Taipei, from Hong Kong. Ship's officers said about 12 big shells splashed uncomfortably close to the Wingsang but caused no damage or casualties.

The wingsang plies regularly between Hong Kong and Formosa. The attack was the first incident of its kind since Britain recognized the communist government of China.

A strong British protest is expected to be filed in Peking.

then the gaunt-bellied, wild dogs from which they got the name of Pariah.

Those still were days of considerable child marriage. Women had little or no place in public life but for the most part were kept shut away from the outside world. When they appeared in public they were closely veiled all except the lowest classes.

That was the picture a generation ago. But education was spreading, and the people were beginning to feel a political consciousness.

A little Hindu named Gandhi was tramping the highways and byways, preaching the tenets of the Sermon on the Mount, and instilling the urge for political freedom on the minds of the masses. Working with him were eager followers like the great Nehru, who now is prime minister of India.

Well, you know the rest of the story. Progress has surged across the peninsula and we now have the independent nations of India and Pakistan. Both are playing their part in world affairs.

The prices have been depressed, and their subjects have joined the free peoples of the new nations. India ranks among the great manufacturing countries of the globe. Education has swept the peninsula, for both women and men. Women are discarding the veil, and you see young men and girls walking the streets together. Religious bigotry has lessened.

When I first visited India, I made a friend in a distinguished Hindu writer. I was entertained in his home but his wife wouldn't eat at the table with me because I was an "unbeliever." Four years ago I was entertained in their home and she ate with me as though I were a member of the family.

Yesterday India inaugurated her first president, Rajendra Prasad, a disciple of the martyred Gandhi. She also promulgated her new republican constitution, under which the stigma of "untouchability" is outlawed.

Whither now? I have traveled widely on the India peninsula and studied the people. I believe their capability for advancement is unlimited.

India may well become the leader of the whole Orient.

"DROP" HEAD COLD SNEEZES
2 drops of Penetro Nose Drops in each nostril check sniffles sneezes. You feel quick relief. Breathe easier this 2-drop way.

GRAND PENETRO NOSE DROPS

MOST POWERFUL Chevrolet Trucks Ever Built!

Introducing a Great Load-Master "105" Engine

It's the most powerful truck engine in Chevrolet history! And it's here now to give you a new high in on-the-job performance for your 1950 hauling.

This great Load-Master Valve-in-Head engine with 105 horsepower enables you to speed up heavy-duty schedules—complete more deliveries in less time. And for light- and medium-duty hauling, Chevrolet's famed Thrift-Master Engine also delivers more power with improved performance.

Come in and look over these new Chevrolet Trucks in the light of your own hauling needs. See all the important improvements for 1950. See how Chevrolet offers just the model you want—with more power and greater value than ever!

CHEVROLET P*L ADVANCE-DESIGN TRUCKS

P* PERFORMANCE LEADERS • P* PAYLOAD LEADERS • P* POPULARITY LEADERS • P* PRICE LEADERS

Young Chevrolet Co.

300 East Second Street

Phone 140

Social and Personal

Phone 1268 or 1269 Between 8 A. M. and 4 P. M.

Social Calendar

Monday, January 30
The Ladies Auxiliary of the Garrett Memorial Baptist church will meet at the church at 2 p. m. Monday.

The Executive Board of the W. M. S. will meet at the Educational Building of the First Baptist church at 11 a. m. Monday. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon. At 1:30 p. m. a community mission program will be given. The topic for the discussion will be "Defeating Self and Enticing Christ." All members of the W. M. S. are urged to be at this meeting.

Tuesday, January 31
The Ladies Auxiliary of the Unity Baptist church will meet in the home of Mrs. Dave Evans at 2 p. m. Monday.

Circle 3 of the Women's Council of the First Christian Church will meet at 7 p. m. at the home of the circle leader, Mrs. Billy McDuff, with Mrs. Thomas Fenwick, leader of the program. There will be a covered dish supper and everyone is to bring a dish of food.

Colleen Coffee

Honored on Birthday

Miss Frances Cornelius, Miss Leola Griffin, and Miss Mary Torst entertained at eight o'clock Thursday night with a surprise birthday party honoring Miss Colleen Coffee.

Colleen and contests under the direction of Miss Griffin were enjoyed. Those receiving prizes in the contests were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jordan, Henry Burke, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sparks.

The guests presented the honor with a lovely gift.

A yellow iced birthday cake was embellished with Happy Birthday Colleen in green.

A delicious sandwich and dessert plate was served to eighteen guests.

B & P W Club

Enjoy Social

Mrs. Sue Sommerville, Mrs. J. W. Patterson, and Mrs. Hazel Pritchard were hostesses at the regular bi-monthly dinner and social meeting of the Hope B & P W Club at 7 p. m. Thursday, in the private dining room of the Barlow Hotel.

The U-shaped table was decorated with arrangements of japonica.

Mrs. Foy Hammons, Sr. president, conducted the short business session at which time the club voted to donate $20 to the March of Dimes drive. A free will offering of $2.50 was taken to be given to the drive.

Following the three course dinner, the hostesses conducted games of bingo, which were enjoyed by all.

There were 23 members and two guests, Miss Helen Calhoun, and Mrs. Oliver Gilliam present.

Ruth Emma Calhoun

Becomes Bride of Charles Hamilton

Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Calhoun of Spring Hill announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth Emma, to Charles A. Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Hamilton also of Spring Hill.

The impressive single ring ceremony was solemnized at seven o'clock Thursday evening at the First Methodist church with the Reverend J. M. Hamilton, pastor, officiating in the presence of the immediate families and close friends.

The bride was becomingly attired in a dressmaker suit of hyacinth blue crepe, with black accessories, and a shoulder corsage of pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple left for a wedding trip after which they will make their home in Austin, Tex., where Mr. Calhoun is employed.

The bride is a graduate of Spring Hill high school and for the past four years has been employed by the Star Publishing Co. Mr. Hamilton attended Spring Hill school and served three years in the U. S. Army, with two years overseas duty in the European theater.

Coming and Going

Cpl. Robert C. Rogers, who is stationed at the Great Falls Air Force Base, Montana arrived Monday for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Rogers on North Ferguson st. Cpl. Rogers recently underwent an operation at the Base hospital at Great Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Miller will leave Sunday for Nashville, Tenn. to attend an insurance convention.

Thomas M. Purvis left Friday for a business trip to Walla Walla and Seattle Washington.

Mrs. S. O. Brasher of Haynesville, La. is guest of Mr. and

British Prices Rise Faster Than Wages

London, Jan. 26.—(AP)—With general elections less than a month away the British Labor government risked its popularity among workers by announcing today that prices rose twice as fast as wages last year.

The ministry of labor report in the January Gazette gave ammunition to union workers who have been arguing for raises despite the government's two-year voluntary freeze on most pay scales.

But political experts believe leaders of the 8,000,000-member trades union congress would manage to keep pressure to a minimum to avoid embarrassing the Labor party in its campaign for re-election Feb. 23.

The ministry's report showed: Between December, 1948, and December, 1949, the index of wages increased two points to 109 per cent of the June, 1947, level.

At the same time the retail price index went up four points to 113 per cent of the same base level.

The food price index rose 12 points to 120 per cent, partly because of a 10 per cent increase in the price of wheat from America.

Weekly wage boosts during the year were estimated at 1,073,700 pounds, ($3,096,360) divided among 5,198,500 workers. This was the lowest in ten years.

Increased pressure for more pay was seen yesterday when five unions decided to claim a "substantial increase" for some 150,000 automobile repairmen.

They are the engineers, electricians, vehicle builders, transport and general workers and general and municipal workers unions.

Garmenters now get four pounds 13 shillings ($13.02) to five pounds 13 shillings eight pence ($15.91) weekly.

Coal miners and railroad workers are among other groups who have been asking for raises recently.

Mrs. Bert Keith.

Personal Mention

Word has been received from the State Dept. of Education of Arkansas, that Billy G. Hodson, of Mrs. Pauline H. Hodson, Hope, has been awarded a certificate of equivalent of high school diploma in compliance with recommendation of the Arkansas Council of Education, and the North Central Association of College and Secondary schools.

Hospital Notes

Julia Chester

Admitted: Mrs. D. L. LaRue

Amity; Jimmie Gilbert Hollis, Hope.

Josephine

Admitted: Mrs. D. C. Cox, Lewisville

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Cox, of Lewisville, announce the arrival of a baby boy, Clinton Ray.

Branch

Admitted: Billy Teel, Hope.

Discharged: Lon McLarty.

End of a Chapter

By Edwin Rutt

Copyright 1950 by MCA SERVICE, INC.

The tory: Alice Pine is a new literary secretary to the popular writer, Mrs. Muriel Hallack, whose pen name is "Jo Palgrave." Alice likes Muriel and she also has met Brent, the writer's artist husband, and Rick, Brent's four-year-old nephew who was adopted by his father after his parents were killed in an accident. Alice is not pleased with Brent's disposition and she has just witnessed a quarrel between Muriel and Brent over the cutting down of a tree near the house. Muriel says that Brent acts like a spoiled baby. Brent says, "This land, and what grows on it, is mine."

The little incident about the tree in the garden interested Alice Pine's natural curiosity about Brent Hallack. She wondered who anyone who could afford a leisurely life in this charming spot could or should be, as Brent apparently was, perpetually discontented and almost truculent. In her opinion, both the Hallecks, Muriel and Brent, were at the top of the world.

Muriel seemed sensible of that fact and was becomingly grateful about it. She was gay, cheerful, even dispositioned. At her writing, Muriel drove herself relentlessly, but she knew how to stop and throw the work out of her mind. She had a calmness, even a serenity that was remarkable in a creative person. After the first week of close contact with Muriel, Alice had yet to see the woman actively irritable.

Eventually Alice decided that Muriel had been right. Brent was spoiled. With that conclusion, Alice stopped thinking about him. He was a nuisance, a nuisance. Her business here was with Muriel.

As the days passed she found it a pleasant business. After the feverish operation of an advertising agency, this ordered routine was child's play. She did not even have to take shorthand. To Muriel's own great disgust, she could not dictate satisfactorily.

They tried it, exhaustively but futilely. The words that flowed so easily to Muriel's fingertips balked at getting off her tongue.

"Oh dear!" Muriel exclaimed at last. "It's no use. I'm just a wooden Indian. Why wasn't I born an Edgar Wallace or an E. Phillips Oppenheim? They made fortunes simply by talking to pretty girls and into dictaphones."

"You were born a Jo Palgrave," Alice reminded her. "That puts you in the upper brackets."

But the situation distressed Alice. She was being highly paid and felt that under these conditions, she wasn't worth it. Without hypocrisy, she suggested a downward salary revision. Muriel blushed the idea.

"Look! I engaged you thinking I could work in a certain way. It's

Friends Pay Debt, Tucker Stays Out of Jail

Chicago, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Preston O. Tucker, who promoted a $26,000,000 automobile manufacturing enterprise, was saved from a jail sentence yesterday after friends paid a $1,700 debt.

Tucker, head of the bankrupt Tucker corporation, and seven associates last Sunday were acquitted in federal court of mail fraud and conspiracy charges.

Tucker was in the custody of a municipal court bail for three hours yesterday while his friends obtained enough money to satisfy a judgement. He was ordered detained for failing to pay $3,567 to Mrs. Justina C. Perkins of Noblesville, Ind.

Mrs. Perkins claimed Tucker owed her part of the purchase price for a farm he had bought in 1935. His attorney said he could not pay the $3,567 judgement. It was settled for $1,700 but Tucker did not come here yesterday.

Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of municipal court said he had no choice except to send Tucker to jail. But Tucker's attorneys obtained $1,500 and the remaining $200 was in the form of a 30-day note and won his release.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY — Was observed recently by Mr. and Mrs. William S. Sprouse, parents of F. E. Sprouse of Hope, at the home of a daughter, Mrs. W. L. Dyess of Ennis, Texas. Other children attending were Esque Sprouse and wife, R. H. Sprouse and wife of Houston, The Hon. Horace Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ray and Mrs. Frank Burns of Ennis. They were presented with many beautiful gifts.

DOROTHY DIX Disillusioned Woman

Dear Miss Dix: Although my husband and I have been married nine years and have three children, we have never in any respect ceased being sweethearts. We are well matched physically, spiritually and mentally. I had been sublimely happy with him until not long ago when I discovered that he had been unfaithful to me.

He swears that he must have been insane to do it, that he has no feeling whatsoever for the woman, and he has been sweeter and more attentive to me than ever before, but I just can't respond. He has killed something in me that has left me dumb. If only I could hate him, maybe it would not be so hard, but I am afraid I shall never do that. It has stunned me so that I have no feeling at all, which will probably make him eventually hate me. Can't he achieve the happiness that you have lost?

ONE WHO HAS LOST FAITH

Answer: Certainly no blow that ever comes to a woman is as terrible as finding out that the man she loved and trusted has betrayed her. It is a dagger thrust into her heart and it is one from which she never wholly recovers, for, while in time the wound may heal it always leaves it hideous scar.

Can't Forget

It is foolish to say that she can wash clean with the tears and go on with her life as if nothing had happened. The bond between her and her husband has been broken, and, however you tie it together, the knot will still be there.

But when one's palace of happiness has been wrecked by a cruel blow, one can still build out of its ruins a house in which one can find warmth and comfort and security and more happiness and content than there is elsewhere.

And I think the woman is wise who does this. She does not despair fleeing from it into a cold and lonely world.

This I particularly advise you to do because, loving your husband as you do, you will be miserable without him, and because it is literally true that half a loaf is better than no bread at all. And because, in spite of his one step off the strait and narrow road, he is no follower of the primrose path. He is no philanderer, but just a mere human man who has yielded to a sudden gust of passion.

Dear Miss Dix: How does a man tell for certain whether he is in love with a girl or not?

There is a certain girl whom I find myself thinking about dozens of times each day. Everything I do somehow links back to something we have done together. Every song I hear makes me think of her. I can go to the most brilliant party and if she is not there, I am in a hurry to get away, or I can go to the most commonplace affair and if she is any place in the room, just so I can get a glimpse of her now and then, I have a glorious time. UNCERTAIN

Answer: It is. It is the real genuine blown-in-the-bottle kind of love that lasts and satisfies, and you need have no hesitation about marrying any girl that you feel that way about.

There are many varieties of near-love that seem so much like the real thing that it is no wonder so many men mistake a slight palpitation in the cardiac region for a fatal case of heart disease. Many men, for instance, think they are in love with a pretty face when the girl has no quality of mind or soul that interests them or appeals to them. Very often a man marries such a girl for her beauty and then inevitably he becomes tired of his living picture.

Very often a woman's attraction for a man is purely physical and that, too, wanes with time and is killed by satiety. If the marriage is such a woman, their life together is filled with storms and jealousies and fierce fights that often end in divorce.

But when a woman just fills a man's life and glorifies it with her presence she inspires in him the love that lasts and grows greater year by year.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a boy of 16, born of parents from the old country. I have a carefree disposition and this seems to both

Doctor Who Told Carol Due to Take Stand

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 27.—(AP)—The doctor who broke the news to blonde Carol Ann Paigh that her father was doomed by cancer was on hand today, as a key witness in her mercy slaying trial.

The state called him into court yesterday as a prosecution witness, but never put him on the stand.

"If they don't call him, we will," was the word from the defense table.

The physician, Dr. William E. Smith, of Stamford, Conn., called the Paigh family together last Sept. 23 and told them 52-year-old police Sgt. Carl Paigh was riddled with cancer.

Dr. Smith gave him from three days to three months to live. This information the defense contends, sent 21-year-old Carol Ann staggering out of the hospital in an insane blackout. She returned with her father's gun and sent a bullet through his brain.

Carol Ann faces life in prison if convicted of second degree murder in Connecticut's first mercy slaying case.

The defense, pleading temporary insanity, asks that she be set free. The jury of nine mothers and three fathers on young shoulders had old heads on young shoulders going out with the gang. But it isn't true. Ask your parents to remember things they did at 16.

(Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Hearts Go Out to Girl Mercy Slayer

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Blonde, slim Carol Ann Paigh, pleading murder for mercy's sake, has touched some hearts in Connecticut.

Two prospective jurors at her second degree murder trial were excused yesterday. They frankly said they might have pulled the trigger as she did against the head of cancer-doomed man.

Carol Ann's man was her policeman father, 52, a pal since her childhood. She shot him to death in his hospital bed last Sept. 23. She knew he had cancer but he had not been told.

Carol Ann's penalty, if she is convicted of murder, is life in prison—at the age of 21.

Eleven jurors had been approved yesterday, in the second day of her trial in the Fairfield County Superior court. The last juror is to be selected today. So will two alternates, who would replace any regular juror who might become ill.

The trial, quickly dismissed the two jury prospects who startled the crowded courtroom with their

Newlyweds to Florida for Honeymoon

Washington, Jan. 27.—(AP)—The capital's newest No. 1 newlyweds, Maj. John Ernest Horton and Dr. Druce Snyder, were honeymoon-bound today, somewhere in Florida.

Horton, a White House military aide, and his bride, the daughter of Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. John W. Snyder, left here last night after a glittering wedding reception.

Their exact destination was a secret.

Their five o'clock wedding was approval of mercy killing—a subject that has aroused nationwide discussion.

But another prospect, quiet, dark-eyed, 40-year-old Mrs. Alice Leopold, said bluntly that she could not damn Carol Ann for killing her father Sgt. Carl Paigh of the Stamford, Conn., police.

Mrs. Leopold, Republican state representative and mother of two teen-aged sons, did not say she would do such a thing herself. But she refused to condemn a mercy slayer without further evidence.

She insisted a mother's mercy could not be brushed aside at the will of the state. But she promised to try to consider the case against Carol Ann on its merits.

Carol Ann admits shooting a quick bullet into her father's head as he slept in the hospital, still unaware that a diagnosis has revealed incurable cancer.

Twice, she nodded a court dismissal to would-be jurors who admitted they favored mercy killings.

Her plea is temporary insanity knowing her father was riddled with cancer and had not long to live.

attended by more than 2,000 guests, including President Mrs. Truman, also present. Mrs. Truman and Mrs. Snyder, who were in the White House, Washington, D. C., were in the Chevy Chase Country club the wedding reception. The reception line lasted two hours.

Quarts of champagne bubbled from a five-vent fountain, and was a three-tier wedding cake, a draped stand in a flower-laden bower.

There was dancing to samba and rhumba music.

Mr. Truman gave Dr. Snyder a kiss and a little red envelope. Margaret Truman, the President's daughter, was one of the bridesmaids. She missed the bride bouquet. It was caught by a friend who is already engaged.

Dr. Snyder's wedding dress, of white tulle and flowers, was a yard-fan-shaped train. Her bridesmaids were all in green.

President Truman wore an off-gray afternoon suit. Mrs. Truman wore a pink jacket, a blue dress and a flowered spring coat. Spectators outside the Washington cathedral where the wedding ceremony was performed cheered and called out "Hi, Mr. President," when the President arrived.

The four leading states in sale of hunting licenses are in order: Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio.

Not Just a Child's Game

PURE

St. Joseph ASPIRIN

DANCE

SATURDAY, JAN. 28

9 to 12 P. M.

Sponsored by the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority

AMERICAN LEGION HUT

Music by

Arthur Lee Hargis and His Orchestra

Admission $2.00 Per Couple

Tickets on sale at Jacks News Stand, City Bakery and Checkered Cafe.

Proceeds from this Dance will be Given to the March of Dimes

WORK SHOES

By

ENDICOTT JOHNSON

Durable low cost shoes made of wax split cowhide or grain leather double topped to give the utmost in wear—

A Wide Choice at Low Prices

3.45 to 6.95

W. O. Beene

114 East Third

"Mrs. Dawson called Tuesday to give me her recipe for blackberry jelly. I made 13 glasses!"

"Then early Wednesday morning we knew the stork was on his way. Mother called the doctor."

it's a GIRL!

"John got the cab, while Mother packed. Within minutes we were off!"

"A half hour later John called home to say that 'Junior' turned out to be a girl!"

"

CLASSIFIED

Ads Must Be in Office Day Before Publication

Number	One	Three	Six	One
Words	Days	Days	Days	Month
1-10	45	90	150	450
11-20	60	120	200	600
21-30	75	150	250	750
31-40	90	180	300	900
41-50	105	210	350	1050
51-60	120	240	400	1200
61-70	135	270	450	1350
71-80	150	300	500	1500

Rates are for Continuous Insertions Only
All Want Ads Cash in Advance
Not Taken Over the Phone

Hope Star

Star of Hope 1899; Press 1927,
January 16, 1950

Published every weekday afternoon by STAR PUBLISHING CO.
J. M. Washburn, President
J. M. Washburn, Secretary-Treasurer
212-214 South Walnut Street, Hope, Ark.

Editor: J. M. Washburn, Editor & Publisher
J. M. Washburn, Editor & Publisher
George W. Harmer, Mech. Supv.
J. M. Washburn, Advertising Manager

Entered as second class matter at the Post Office at Hope, Arkansas, under
No. 103, March 3, 1927.

Accepted for mailing at special rate of $1.00 per copy provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917.

Postmaster: Please send address changes to Hope Star, 212-214 South Walnut Street, Hope, Ark.

Subscription Rates: (All payments in advance) City carrier per copy 20c Outside carrier per copy 25c. Single copies 10c. Foreign, 15c. Postage paid by publisher. Second class postage paid at Hope, Ark.

Advertising Representatives—
Washburn & Harmer, Inc., 212-214
South Walnut Street, Hope, Ark.
New York City, 212-214
South Walnut Street, Hope, Ark.
Chicago, 212-214
South Walnut Street, Hope, Ark.
St. Louis, 212-214
South Walnut Street, Hope, Ark.
San Francisco, 212-214
South Walnut Street, Hope, Ark.

Member of the Associated Press. The associated press is authorized to use the name of this newspaper, as well as its news dispatches.

For Rent

FIVE ROOM DUPLEX. HARDwood floors, screened back porch. Garage. Private entrance. 215 North Hervey.
Phone 1397-J. 17-6t.

THREE ROOM UNFURNISHED
apartment. Newly decorated.
Drive-in garage. Located at 404
West Avenue G. Jess Morris.
Phone 827. 17-2t.

NICELY FURNISHED APARTment. Private bath, electric refrigerator and garage. Phone 1159-J. 18-3t.

THREE ROOM UNFURNISHED
apartment, newly decorated. Garage. 312 South Spruce street.
Mrs. E. E. Schooley. Phone
1159-J. 18-3t.

THREE ROOM FURNISHED house, utilities paid. Also 2 room house, unfurnished or two 3 room apartments. Near Schoolhouse Store. Mrs. J. E. Schooley.
Phone 1159-J. 18-3t.

NICE TWO BEDROOM MODERN house with garage, near Paisley school, located at 316 Mockingbird Lane, near Giles Foster at Spring Hill, Ark. 20-6t.

THREE ROOM UNFURNISHED
apartment. Private entrance.
556 Mrs. A. W. Martin. 510
South Fulton or phone 1109-J.
20-3t.

MODERN 4 ROOM HOUSE. 1104 West Avenue B. See J. C. Baker at Midway Grocery, between Hope and Lewisville. 21-3t.

401 WEST FOURTH STREET
Home Five rooms, and bath.
Water Sallee, Route three,
Paisley, Arkansas. 23-1t.

MODERN 3 ROOM UNFURNISHED apartment. 2 blocks from town. Available immediately.
Cline Franks, Phone 611 or 274-J.
23-3t.

WORKING LADY WILL SHARE
home with couple. See at 1311 West Avenue B. or call 1069 after 5:30 p.m. 24-3t.

ACRES ON HOPE ROUTE 4.
Open land, well drained. Reson-able price. Call C. E. Boyce, Washington, Route 1. 24-6t.

LARGE 4 ROOM UNFURNISHED apartment. Private bath and entrance. Newly redecorated. Ca-rage. Six blocks from heart of town. Phone 1415-W. 23-3t.

NICE LARGE APARTMENT
Cheap. Leo Robins. 25-3t.

Real Estate for Sale

FIVE ROOM MODERN HOME small payment down. Small monthly payments. Call 768-J or see T. N. Belew, owner. 24-3t.

SEE ME FOR

FERTILIZER
At my Old Store on E. 3rd St. or Warehouse on So. Hazel St.
FREE DELIVERY
Phonics Day 1913, Night 1176-J-4
ROY MULLINS

REMOVED FREE
Within 40 Miles DEAD HORSES, COWS and CRIPPLES Tennessee Rendering Plant
212-214 (phone collect) or in Answer Dial 5-9770

Let Us Rebuild Your Old MATTRESS or make your old one into a comfortable innerspring.
One Day Service
"All Work Guaranteed"

DAVIS
Remover & Mattress Co.
212-214 (phone collect)
or in Answer Dial 5-9770

Charles vans, Jr., who won
the Western Open golf tourney in 1910, the only amateur ever to win that title.

FLOWERS
For All Occasions
CAMPBELL'S
Flower & Gift Shop
1804 S. Elm Phone 1223-J

For Sale

PURE LESPEDESA HAY. ALSO Johnson grass and Lespedeza mixed. At barn or can deliver.
M. S. Bates. 17-6t.

MY HOME ON 100 x 144 FT. LOT.
Six rooms and bath, hardwood floors throughout. Large closets.
54 inch attic fan. Garage with storage room. 707 South Elm.
Phone 119-J. Milton Easton. 17-6t.

HICKORY SMOKED BARBE-qued Chickens. Special on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Place your orders on Tuesday and Friday. Special 2 pound chickens for $1.85. Bill and Tink's, Candy Street behind A & P. Open daily and Sunday. 17-1t.

THREE PIECE MAHOGANY bedroom suite. Phone 281-W.
18-3t.

100 FIVE MONTHS OLD NEW Hampshire pullets. Priced to sell.
Arthur Gray, Ozan, Arkansas.
21-6t.

FIREWOOD-WHITE OAK. CLIPpings $1.50 per rack, straight wood $2. per rack. Reading Mill.
North Main street. 21-6t.

FOUR ROOM HOUSE IN PROVing ground area. Must be moved.
For further information call 187.
21-1t.

60 ACRES LAND, 5 ROOM house, 4 dairy cows with young calves. 2 acre orchard, springs, running water. $3700. See Mrs.
Etta Willard, 6 miles southeast of Hope on Shover Springs road or write to Hope. Route 2.
24-6t.

HOT HOUSE FRYERS. W. A.
Poele. Proving Ground. Road.
26-3t.

150 ACRE FARM ON HIGHWAY
24 near McCaskill. Sell all or part. Rent buildings. Jess Wood, Bellville, Arkansas. 26-3t.

Wanted

TWO SETTLED WOMEN FOR cafeteria work, will train. Also one experienced waitress. Apply Diamond Cafeteria and 22-4t.

YOUR OLD TIMEPIECE COMmitted a serious crime of stealing your time, robbing you of opportunities. For repairs see Leroy Henry, Henry's Watch
Service at Miss Henry's Shop, 117 South Main street, phone 252.
Hope, Arkansas. 27-1t.

DINTE SUITES AND BEDroom suites. Also one used power take-off for Jeep. Phone 61.
23-1m.

Wanted to Buy

SIX ROOM HOUSE. ELECTRIcity, butane and good water. Located 6 miles South on Highway
29. Old CCC Camp. See Ray
Ford at Place. 23-3t.

Salesman Wanted

44. DAILY AND COMMISSION for men with car to sell medicine-products to colored. Steady, dependable men, willing to work immediately and permanent income. Phone Mr. Brake, Barlow Hotel, between 8 and 2 or 7 and 9 evening, Wednesday only. 23-3t.

For Sale or Rent

SIX ROOM HOUSE. ELECTRIcity, butane and good water. Located 6 miles South on Highway
29. Old CCC Camp. See Ray
Ford at Place. 23-3t.

Services Offered

FOR REFRIGERATION REPAIR
Call Houston Electric Co. Phone
40. All Work guaranteed. 15-4t.

MATRESS RENOVATION AND
upspringing work. Cobb Matress
Co., 316 S. Washington, Phone 445-J. 12-1 mo.

FOR ELECTRIC MOTOR SERvice, complete rewinding and repairs. City Electric Co. Phone 784. Night 1386-W. 2-1m.

SEPTIC TANKS CLEANED. GO anywhere anytime. No job too large or small. Rural septic tanks installed. J. M. Atkins Rural S. A.
Phone 689. 3-1m.

INCOME TAX TIME. MOST FARmers and many others are required to file tax returns or estimates during January. Competent service. Reasonable charge. J. W. Strickland. 31-1m.

Help Wanted

ONE EXPERIENCED WAITRESS
Apply Manager, Diamond 25-4t.

Lost

BLACK COCKER WEARING RED
collar. Answers to name Susie.
Phone 897-W. Mrs. Ben Owens.
24-3t.

WHITE FACED HERFORD
heifer. Six months old. Reward to Harry Carlson, Hope Route 2, Shover Springs. 25-3t.

Basketball

By The Associated Press
St. Bonaventure 52 Niagara 48.
Villanova 67 John Marshall 62.
St. Johns (Rkn) 65 St. Francis (Bkn) 46.
St. Francis (Pa) 75 Indiana (Pa)
66.

Kentucky 58 Xavier (Ohio) 47.
Bradley 64 Tulsa 48.
Muskingum 71 Dayton 68.
Emporia (Ks) 63 Midwestern 45.
East Texas 68 Washington (Tex)
38.

Charles vans, Jr., who won
the Western Open golf tourney in 1910, the only amateur ever to win that title.

Basketball

By The Associated Press
Last Night's Results
National Association
New York 79 Baltimore 77. (2 overtimes)
Anderson 109; Denver 75.
Boston 80; Wayne 69.
Washington 82 St. Louis 71.
Syracuse 76 Rochester 72.
Exhibition
Wilkes-Barre (Al) 87; Shohoyan (NEA) 64.

Basketball

Sports Before Your Eyes
Latest word on the Holy Cross football coaching situation is that basketball luto Buster Sheary may be the choice. "He had an excellent high school record," says our informant, "and could be another Paul Browns." Earl Stewart, the Texan who was recently tabbed as the best amateur golfer prospect in sight, has just turned pro and plans to make the summer tour. Emmett Lowry, who had reason to feel

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler
Copyright, 1948
By King Features Syndicate.

New York, Jan. 26.—Waiting no objection to the brutal thieves who control all but a trifling portion of the membership of American unions, I expound the proposition that unionism is inevitably headed for economic disaster in the form of government, and should be destroyed or sterilized lest it destroy the nation. All unions intend and strive to be monopolies. Few have attained that goal in the sense of saturating a field, but monopoly does not require saturation.

John L. Lewis's mine workers are a much more effective monopoly than that which the government has the effrontery to contend that the Atlantic and Pacific stores are in the retail grocery business. The mine workers control amounts to monopoly by the same token. The department of justice applies to the A. and P., which admittedly sells only a very small portion of all the food that Americans buy.
The test in the case of business monopolies does not lie in the domination of an industry or product.
Monopoly is said to exist if there are monopolistic practices or tendencies. Some of these are really only the familiar competitive habits of free enterprise. When competitive methods are successful they kill off the competition.
But the administration of the Sherman law undertakes to preserve the competitive system by limiting competition.

Probably the unions in the United States were to succeed totally every worker in the country would be a member of some union and competition would die. The closed shop would be universal. Even under humane laws, the unions distinguished from many thugs and brutes who now stand as "leaders" of labor, and of honest men as distinguished from the vile racketeers of the big houses of unionism this would be fatal to our economy. The unions reason for existence is to get the worker more pay for less work under better and thus more expensive conditions. They raise the cost of everything so that only government subsidies can enable the people to buy. Under total unionism, they would come to a point where they would all be preying on one another and all of them on the rest of the population.

Probably total unionism would bring combinations of unions resulting in multiplicity and concentrating power in a few bosses.
These fellows, to promote steady-ness and their own security, comfort and power, might put their heads together and decide to stabilize wages in the interests of their subjects, in which case, of course, they would have to stabilize prices. They do that to some extent now. However, they might be selfish as well as greedy. Like Lewis, Dubinsky and Petrillo, in which case there would be more and more competition and stifling of competition with chaotic results.

The unions and practically all who praise them insist that disunionism should be above the laws which regulate business. Government agencies regulate the charters of corporations, but the Wagner Act, which is the ideal
"labor" law to unionists, keeps hands off the conditions of unions. The results were grotesque.
They still are even under the Taft-Hartley law, although Taft-Hartley did compel some of the worse racketeers to revise their constitutions, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the
whizzing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the
acrid smell of burning hoo, the hissing of cold water when a red-
hot nail is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as
he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad
who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part
of the American hometown scene.

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE..." In the fiftieth
year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds
forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith
was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free entrepreneurs. In his unfurnished shop

BLONDIE

JZARK IKE

Music-Maker

HORIZONTAL

- 1 Depicted musical instrument
- 3 Climb
- 4 Shed feathers
- 5 Pronoun
- 6 Deed
- 7 Driving command
- 13 Id est (ab.)
- 20 Symbol for samarium
- 21 Greek letter
- 22 Eternity
- 23 Cerium (symbol)
- 24 Japanese outcast
- 26 Spanish hero
- 27 Remit
- 29 River islands
- 30 Rough lava
- 31 Doctor (ab.)
- 32 It is played steam
- 33 To (prefix)
- 34 Vegetables
- 36 Disorder
- 39 Measures of area
- 40 Musical direction
- 41 Note of scale
- 42 Health resort
- 45 United
- 48 Giant king of Bashan
- 49 While
- 50 Grease
- 51 Damage
- 52 Compass point
- 53 Rip
- 54 Assumptions
- 55 Sea eagle
- 58 Calmest

VERTICAL

- 1 Reasons
- 2 Having handles
- 3 Behold!
- 4 Falsifier
- 5 Unit of length
- 6 German king
- 7 Hebrew letter
- 8 Rim
- 9 Prayer ending
- 10 Italian river
- 11 Draw forth
- 12 Horses
- 13 Daybreak (comb. form)
- 25 Climbing fish
- 28 It is used in the
- 29 Time measures
- 29 First man (Bib.)
- 34 Taste
- 35 Expunger
- 37 Rocks
- 38 Wisest
- 42 Painful
- 43 Mixed type
- 44 High mountains
- 45 Measure
- 46 Title
- 47 Ireland
- 54 Any
- 56 Concerning
- 57 Compass point

Answer to Previous Puzzle

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. Williams

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

With Major Hoople

FUNNY BUSINESS

By Hershberger

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

By Blosser

VIC FLINT

WASH TUBBS

BOOTS

BUGS BUNNY

ALLEY OOP

PRISCILLA'S POP

HENRY

CARNIVAL

By Dick Turner

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

Lady of 112 Years Is Just Youngster

Accident, Pa., Jan. 26 (AP)—Mary O'Neill, the little old lady of Stonerush Hill, is 112 years old today.

Although she still insists she is a youngster, Mrs. O'Neill will admit 112 is a very old age.

"The will of God" is the way she explains it.

When a heavy weather promised to bring more visitors than last year, when Mrs. O'Neill was 100, she had her four-room cabin by the river.

Each of her time is spent looking over the picturesque river valley below.

"But she adds, 'I don't get enough. That hill is enough to make anyone puff'."

A native of Yorkshire, England, Mrs. O'Neill married when she was 28 and had seven children.

Her husband died when she was 40, and she came to America to join her Pennsylvania anthracite region.

Two of her children are still living. They are Mrs. Mary Duk-orth, 72, of Quebec, Canada, and James O'Neill, Lancashire, Eng-land.

What sort of food does a lady of 112 like? A slice or two of toast and a cup of tea for breakfast, and some for lunch and a boiled or fried egg for supper.

"She's nothing quite like a rabbit, but she's not a big eater, but I'm healthy."

Not one to let her granddaughter, Nancy, do all the household chores, Mrs. O'Neill helps as much as she can, even baking her own bread.

Truman May Decide Fate of Big Mo

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 26 (UP)—It may be up to President Truman to decide whether the much-bound Mrs. Margaret Snyder will stay in Missouri or be relocated.

Navy Secretary Francis P. Matthews here to address a graduation class of the armed forces staff college first said the future of the navy's only active battleship would depend upon available funds.

But a reporter reminded Matthews that the President promised the Missouri will be active so long as he is President.

Mr. Truman wants her to stay, Matthews said.

The secretary got a brief bird's view of Big Mo and her nine-year-old son, who flew over, he said, when he flew over, he said, to visit the Missouri, how- ever, for fear of "hinderling the navy."

Matthews said he was sure Big Mo would be in operation again next navy try, and he in-

Judge Raps State Law as 'Criminal'

El Dorado, Jan. 26 (AP)—Chancellor Francis Cherry of Jonesboro thinks an Arkansas law is "criminal."

He is, he told El Dorado Rotary club members yesterday, a law which provides that neglected and dependent children shall be placed in a "proper" home or in the state industrial school if no home is available.

The industrial school primarily is for the rehabilitation of young criminals.

Cherry told of a six-year-old child, orphaned by the death of his parents, being committed to the industrial school by a county judge.

"By sending him to the industrial school we've put a brand on this boy—'you and I and the state of Arkansas—which will remain on him the rest of his life,'" the chancellor judge declared.

Cherry is president of Boyeville, a non-sectarian youth home near Wynne. He said Boysville hopes to provide a home, education and an opportunity to work for at least 100 homeless, dependent, neglected and delinquent boys between the ages of 10 and 16.

MacArthur Is 70 Years Old Today

By TOM LAMBERT

Tokyo, Jan. 26 (AP)—General MacArthur, the man who has ruled Japan since the Rising Sun set more than four years ago, was 70 years old today.

Physically well and mentally tough, the supreme allied occupation commander talked a little about his increasingly difficult job but not for publication.

His views are pretty well known on the rising red tide in Asia, peace for Japan, the importance of Formosa in the U. S. Pacific defense line.

It is also known he does not think war is imminent. He is known to regard modern war as so nearly all-destructive that any future conflict might prostrate the victors.

But today you would hardly have known he had anything on his mind but a birthday.

There was little ceremony or fanfare.

There were congratulations of course from his son and wife, from officers who have followed him through hot and cold war, from many friends in many lands and from Sir Alvaro Gascogne of the British mission here who brought greetings from Tokyo's diplomatic missions.

The general, tall and thin and working as every other day, briskly stepped from behind his huge uncluttered desk to greet a long line of well-wishers.

tends to visit her in dry-dock. The navy hopes to refloat the 45,000-ton craft with the aid of high tide and super-strong cables on Feb. 2.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"TELL ME, PRETTY MAIDEN . . ." sang the "Flordora" girls in the year 1900, and the famous double sextette—six men, six women—with its catchy tunes and graceful dancing, became the toast of Broadway. Watch closely and you might catch a glimpse of a shapely ankle through the "fluffy-ruffles" petticoats. There were many, many different "Flordora" girls in the years that followed, most all of them beautiful brunettes with shapely, Gibson-girl figures and nice voices. Volumes have been written about how the members of the original sextettes prospered in later life, through judicious marriage or careful attention to the stock market. For years, Granddad got that young feeling when you mentioned the "simple girls (and proper, too)" of the "Flordora" sextette.

Opens Sunday at Saenger

JEANNE CRAIN is embraced by WILLIAM LUNDIGAN in this scene from "PINKY." A 20th Century-Fox picture.

Opens Sunday at Rialto

WALTER BRENNAN points an accusing finger at ROD CAMERON, as ADRIAN BOOTH looks on, in Republic's "BRIMSTONE," in Trucolor.

Despite Near-Mortal Wounds at the Hand of Germany Britain Would Bury Hatred

By DeWitt MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Twice in a generation Britain has suffered all but mortal wounds from German aggression. It there fore is of peculiar interest to the British zone in Germany, calling for the burial of hatreds and a renewal of Anglo-German friendship.

That's what happened the other night when General Sir Brian Robertson gave a heart-to-heart talk before the Hamburg Overseas club. He wasn't begging for friendship from his German audience, but rather was stating the need of it in the blunt language of a soldier.

The general gave his subject in the forthright question: "Can England and Germany be friends?" Then, right at the start of a down-to-earth talk, he stated his premise for an affirmative answer like this:

"Our spiritual mentors would probably tell us that the question which I have posed is simple to answer. Englishmen and Germans are all God's children and brothers. They can be friends and should be friends. You may feel that such an answer is unpractical and unrealistic. However, religion itself is not unpractical and I believe it to be right to remember that the answer which the churches would give to my question is 'fundamentally right.'"

That's strong mustard, coming from a British soldier who has spent some of the best years of his life fighting Germans. In fact his speech tacitly recognized that the taking of such a position is indeed strong mustard. There is, as he stated, "a somewhat long tradition of enmity" between Germany and England.

And why should these old enemies want to be friends? One good reason is the cost of past wars to both of them, in blood and destruction.

"A second good reason," said Sir Brian, "is surely to be found in the fact that both countries today are menaced by a common peril (reference to the Communist offensive). x x x The threat to our security, our freedom and our common civilization is obvious for all to see. There is yet another reason of more general nature. Our word is contracting. Man's inventions have reduced distance and improved communications to such an extent that the nations are thrown together as it were much more than in the past. x x x"

"England and Germany today live very close one from the other and I am very clear that they should want to be friends."

Sir Brian minced no words in declaring that formidable difficulties lay "in the path which leads towards solid friendship between our two countries. x x x Your task and mine is to work hard that wisdom may prevail."

Well, now what interpretation do we place on this speech? We have a right to assume that the general wasn't making an ordinary hands-across-the-sea address. Present in his audience were prominent Germans. He undoubtedly was speaking with the authorization of his government, and perhaps under instructions. Sir Brian's talk, I take it, was in effect recognition of a well-doubted fact that Western Germany is essential to the defensive system being created by Western Europe to meet the Communist

California Men Fined for Stealing Grip at Prescott

Two California men, Alvin Weisman, 32, and Sam Sagalow, 31, both of Los Angeles, were fined $50 in Prescott City Court this morning for theft of a traveling bag yesterday from Capt. Kelly of the Hope Organized Reserve office.

Capt. Kelly had left his bag outside Prescott Airport hangar while he inquired about a plane trip. The California men passing on Highway 87, stopped their auto and got the bag.

They were apprehended by Chief Baker and Fred Johnson of the Hope Police and Guy Downing of the State Police.

Plain Window Washer Having Tough Time

By NORMAN WALKER

(For James Marlow)

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—The case of the window washer is one of the tough ones under the new wage-hour law.

A window washer doing his job in a building where there were firms engaged in interstate commerce was held to be covered by the old law.

Now he may be exempt. But nobody's too sure about it.

The doubt comes from the changed definition of who is and who isn't covered. A worker covered by the law must get at least the new 75-cent hourly minimum wage, plus overtime pay at time and a half for every hour he works over 40 a week.

The original law said workers were covered if they were engaged in commerce between states or in production of goods from such commerce. It also covered workers "necessary to the production" of goods for interstate commerce.

There were some specific exemptions written into the law but that was the general rule.

Under the new law workers still are covered if they are engaged in commerce or production of goods for commerce.

(Still covered, too, are workers of an employer whose product, even though sold within one state, later gets shipped across state lines as an ingredient of another employer's product.)

But there is one big change.

No longer does the law affect those workers whose jobs are "necessary for production of goods" for interstate commerce.

Instead of that, congress applied the new law to workers engaged in a "closely related process" or occupation directly essential to the production of goods for interstate commerce.

Now back to the window washer. His job was heretofore "necessary to the production of goods" for commerce under the old law.

Will his job be "directly essential to the production of goods" for commerce under the new law?

Most people think not. But it's still a question, why?

Because the congressmen who had most to do with the final version of the new law put out a statement containing an apparent conflict. This statement is not part of the law but it's the clue the courts will use when in doubt about what congress meant.

This statement says in one place that maintenance, custodial and clerical workers of firms in interstate commerce are still covered—even though actually employed by an outsider to do that sort of work for an interstate firm.

But in another place the statement says congress intended to exempt a window washer employed by a local firm to clean wind dows for firms engaged in interstate commerce.

Thus the case of the window washer may wind up in the courts. For example, the man who mows the lawn outside a factory was covered by the old law. He probably isn't under the new one because what an employee does and how it relates to his employers' business, his job appears only remotely—not "closely"—connected to interstate commerce.

But a man who sweeps trash from around machines so they can be kept producing efficiently might be deemed "closely related" or "directly essential" to production.

Here's another change in the new law:

Coverage formerly applied to any firm shipping "from any state to any place outside that state. Now it applies to any firm shipping "between any state and any place outside" the state.

This two-word difference means that porting firms, handling foods from foreign countries are now covered where they were previously exempt. Exporting firms still are covered as before.

In addition, congress for the first time defined what it means by saying a worker must get 1-1/2 times his "regular rate" for hours he works overtime.

Regular rate now is defined to exclude gifts, b b u s a certain premium payments, payments for vacation and illness, and other types of payments unrelated to straight pay for employment.

But say most workers in a plant get $1 an hour for a certain type of work while the man who does the same work at night gets $1.10. What's the night worker's regular rate?

It's $1.10, says the wage-hour administration. For every hour he works overtime he'll get $1.65—or time and a half based on his $1.10 wage.

drive. To put it another way, Britain is making a bid to gain for Western Europe the balance of power. Germany must be an integral part of that set-up.

On that basis the idea of burying the hatchet isn't so strange, but there is more than that to the story. While there is much bitterness in England against the Germans because of the world wars, yet through the generations the British people have felt closer to the Reich than to some other nations which we need not name since comparisons are odious.

There are many ties between the English and the Germans, not overlooking that there is German blood in the British royal family.

In any event, we shouldn't overlook this paramount point:

The future of Western Europe's defensive set-up depends on getting Germany back into the fold.

PRESCOTT NEWS

Sunday, January 29
The Christian youth fellowship will meet Sunday evening at 6 p.m. at the church.

B. T. U. classes of the Central Baptist church will meet Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

The Presbyterian youth fellowship will meet Sunday at 5:45 p.m. Supper will be served by Mrs. Vernon Buchanan and Mrs. Powell Morgan.

The young people of the First Methodist church will meet at 6 p.m. for fellowship, recreation, and worship.

The young people of the Church of Christ will meet at 6 p.m. on Sunday.

The Youth choir of the First Baptist church will meet at 5 p. m. for rehearsal. The training union will meet at 6:30.

Mrs. Butler Hostess
To Circle 2 of WMU

Mrs. Hody Butler was hostess to circle 2 of the W. M. U. of the First Baptist church at her home on Monday afternoon.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Butler. Mrs. Roy Loomis, circle chairman, conducted the business meeting. An interesting study of the first four chapters of St. Luke were taught by Mrs. John M. Pittman.

A dainty dessert plate was served carrying out the valentine motif to Mrs. Pittman, Mrs. Loomis, Mrs. Ike Avery, Mrs. W. P. Prescott, Mrs. J. W. Grimes, Mrs. Roy Stantton, Mrs. Watson White, Mrs. J. H. Langley, Mrs. Alex Clark and to Mrs. R. Martin who was welcomed as a new member.

Circle 3 of WMU Meets in Tompkins Home

Circle 3 of the W. M. U. of the First Baptist church met on Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. H. Tompkins.

Mrs. Jack Cooper opened the meeting with prayer. The business was conducted by the circle chairman, Mrs. Brad Bright. Mrs. Cooper led an interesting study on the first four chapters of St. Luke. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Lewis Garrett.

A delectable salad plate was served by the hostess to members Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. Shell, Mrs. Bright, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Eddie Danner, Mrs. Loyce Anderson and Mrs. J. D. Hines.

Mrs. Bratcher Entertains Circle 4 of W. M. U.

Mrs. Henry Bratcher entertained circle 4 of the W. M. U. of the First Baptist church at her home on Monday afternoon at 2:30.

Mrs. Earl Humble led in prayer and gave the duties for community missions. Each members took two names for visitation. Mrs. Edward Bryson, circle chairman, presided over the business. The minutes were read by Mrs. Farrell Hines, secretary.

M. M. Ingram presented an interesting study from the first three chapters of St. Luke. The next meeting will be in the home of

Mrs. W. L. Britt
A delectable sandwich course was enjoyed by members: Mrs. Humble, Mrs. Ingram, Mrs. Bryson, Mrs. Britt, Mrs. Hines, Mrs. Sidney Loomis, and Mrs. Clifford Ferguson.

Mrs. Pittman Hostess to '37 Contract Club

Mrs. Dan Pittman, Jr. was hostess to the '37 Contract club at her home on Tuesday afternoon.

The rooms arranged for four tables of players were beautifully decorated with arrangements of violets, japonica and pink snap dragons.

The high score award was won by Mrs. Frank Gilbert.

The hostess served delicious refreshments to club members: Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. D. L. McRae, Mrs. Archie Johnson, Mrs. A. V. Regnier, Mrs. Jack Harrell, Mrs. Powell Morgan, Mrs. Ralph Gordon, Mrs. Clifton Arnold, Jr., Mrs. J. R. Bemis, Mrs. Mark Justiss, Mrs. George Christopher, Mrs. Tom Cruise, Mrs. John Pittman, Mrs. Hannel Herring, Mrs. Jess Hays, Jr. to guests Mrs. Vernon Buchanan, and Mrs. Allen Gee, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robey and sons were the Monday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McClendon in Lewisville. They also attended the Lewisville-Prescott basketball game.

Miss Mary Lou Thomas of the Univ. of Ark., Fayetteville and Jim Thomas of Hendrix college are the guests of their parents Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thomas.

Mrs. Werner Hamilton and Miss Mary Joe Hamilton left today for Fayetteville where they will attend the graduation of Jim Hamilton who receives his degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration at the Univ. of Ark. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Clarke White and Miss Gertrude Clarke White. Miss White will receive her degree in Bachelor of Science.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Eerry and family and Miss Pat Cunningham saw the Prescott-Lewisville basketball game in Lewisville Monday night.

C. H. Tompkins Jr., of the Univ. of Ark., Fayetteville is spending the mid-semester holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tompkins.

Mrs. Robert Maxwell of Texarkana is the guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hays.

Mrs. Jim Yancey, Mrs. O. J. Stephenson and Mrs. Wren Scott spent Tuesday in Texarkana. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Allen Gee Jr. and children Gail and Bill.

Curt Stone and Horace Ashenfelter, former Penn State distance top riding honors for the third running stars, still practice on the campus and will run in 1950 meets.

President, Margaret to Attend Drucie Snyder's Wedding

Washington, Jan. 26 (AP)—A cabinet officer's daughter and a White House aide will be married today (5 p. m. EST) with President Truman looking on and his daughter, Margaret, serving as a bridesmaid for the fifth time.

Miss Edith Cook ("Drucie") Snyder, 24-year-old only child of the secretary of the treasury is to be the bride; Maj. John Earnest Horton, 30, the groom. Horton's father, Leory F. Horton, lives at Wichita, Kas.

Some 2000 invited guests, including top ranking government and diplomatic officials, were invited to attend the Episcopal ceremony in Washington cathedral and a reception at the Chevy Chase club in suburban Maryland.

Washington society columnists proclaim it the first wedding of a cabinet officer's daughter here since Secretary of Commerce Lammie's daughter, Gertrude, was married to Charles Saltzman in the early 1930s.

President and Mrs. Truman had a front pew reserved in the church, Washington's largest.

The Snyder and Truman families have been close friends for many years. The presidential family has sent a gift of table silver to Miss Snyder.

Miss Snyder's Elizabethan-style wedding dress—size 14 and the slip beneath it, which may be worn as an evening gown by itself, were made of 48 yards of feather-weight Japanese silk brought back by her father from a trip to Japan in November.

ATTENTION! Sportsmen, Farmers and Outdoor Men.

THIN MODEL POCKET WATCH

Silver plated dial, easy-to-read numerals, metal plated case, excellent time keeper.

In universal demand, a sturdy reliable watch made by The E. Ingraham Company of Bristol, Connecticut.

Mail us the Carton Top from a 60c bottle of Big-Hed Liniment and $1.40 in cash and receive an Ingram Pocket Watch, with a retail value of $2.40. Use Big-Hed Liniment for muscular aches, pains, and stiff joints, caused from exposure and exertion. It gives prompt relief.

Humco Laboratory

P. O. Box 82
Texarkana, Ark.-Tex.

COMING

OLIE'S DAIRY PRODUCTS in single service sanitary paper bottles

For your convenience and as a special sanitary protection you will shortly be able to buy our milk in a single service paper bottle.

Here's an extra safeguard that's important. The purity of your milk will be really protected because you will use the bottle the only time it is ever used.

And you'll like it because it's so handy and helpful. No returns, no bothersome washing of bottles. No deposits.

It's the modern and safe way to buy and serve milk. Watch for the distinctive, new conical-shaped bottle . . . it's our way of saying: "Here's wholesome milk that is really protected."

HOME OWNED

Olies Dairy

SERVING SOUTHWEST ARKANSAS

RIALTO

FRIDAY — SATURDAY

BILL ELLIOTT in "EARLY ARIZONA"

WARNER BAXTER in "THE DEVIL'S HENCHMEN"

STARTS SUNDAY

FRONTIER ADVENTURE with MEN AND WOMEN HARD AS...

BRIMSTONE in Trucolor

ROD CAMERON with Walter BRENNAN

SAENGER

FRI. — SAT.

Western Stars in TRUCOLOR

ROY ROGERS

THE GOLDEN STALLION — DALE EVANS

PLUS

The West Goes Collegiate

TUCSON

JIMMY LYDON PENNY EDWARDS JOE SAWYER

STARTS SUNDAY

THE LOVE STORY OF A GIRL WHO PASSED FOR WHITE!

This Year the Picture is

Pinky

Starring JEANNE CRAIN — ETHEL BARRYMORE ETHEL WATERS — WILLIAM LUNDIGAN